Governor Wise's plan for carrying on his Governor Wise's plan for carrying on his proposed "nelghborhood civil war," agalast has fellow-citizens of Virginia, was to "arm the slaves." This, however detestable, had some show of manliness about it, because the Uniou men could arm their slaves also, and the scheme did not seem to contemplate anything woree than an open war of men against men all with a may in their hands. But the scheme of this scoundrel Clingman has no touch of manliness in it. His proposition is that the traitors of North Carolina should avail themselves of their supposed superior numbers to assassinate the Union men of that State in cold blood.

Is it possible that the people of North Carolina will submit to the domination of such men as those? Is it possible that there are no Union men in that Sate who will tell this Clingman to his face what a detestable wretch he is or so expose him in the public prints as to bring upon him the enduring scorn and detestation of his fellow-citizens? Why should history impale the Catilines, the Borglan, or the Roberpletres of of other times, as objects of enduring infamy, if such men as Wise and Clingman can avow with impunity their intention to commit crimes of roposed "nelgbhorhood civil war," agalast his Gentiemen: I saw a eard in to-lay's issue of the Louisville Courier, headed "Frankfort Cripke Roundycon." The object of it is to Insure Copie. Harry I. Todd and others of the American party of this city. It states that a "watchman at the engine depot and work-shop at Frankfort, of the rallroad, was discharged a few weeks ago by Captain Todd because he insured to vote the D mocratic tacket; and that upon coming to the polls on the marning of the election Capt. Todd knocked bith down, and, with the assistance of a person named Bridgeford, recently from the workhouse at Lexington, smashed him to his heart's content.

As far as relates to Capt. Todd's baving discharged he man on account of his political views or his intention to cast his vote for Bucharan, the author of the card is a fiar and standers. And for saying that Capt. Tod's knocked the fellow down and choked him with the and of a leilow named Bridgeford, I pronounce the author of the card a base calumniar or who knew what he stated to be fulse and whose footslep pollutes the soil on which he walks. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:
